

09/178887

-19-

Abstract of the Disclosure

A print system and method of using includes a print server; at least one printer connected to the print server; a plurality of computers connected to the print server; the print server includes a job observation stationary module for monitoring the status of the printer connected to the print server; and each of the computers includes a status monitor for displaying the status of the printer connected to the print server. The method includes monitoring a status of a printer with a print server; sending the status of the printer to a plurality of computers connected to the print server; and displaying the status of the printer connected to the print server.

09178887 102798